Prerequisites: NRA Basic Pistol Shooting Course (or equivalent approved handgun familiarization training) is a pre-requisite for this course. A prequalification firearm handling exercise may also be required if a student has not completed the NRA Basic Pistol Shooting Course .

Notes: Students must provide their own safe and functional handgun and 150 rounds of factory ammunition for the course. No magnum calibers allowed. If using a semi-auto pistol, a minimum of two magazines should be on-hand for exercises. As there is no draw-from-holster work in this course, holsters are not required. Students should plan to bring their own eye-and-ear protection for the class. Electronic hearing protection is recommended so that students can easily hear range commands. Plan to bring a lunch (and drinks) for both the Saturday and Sunday class sessions. Shooting exercises will include kneeling and prone positions.
